Milan, 27th August 2020

Linkiesta is read daily by over 165,000 unique users, with a social audience of 200,000 likes on Facebook and 300,000 followers on Twitter. Since March 2020, Linkiesta has been joined by two vertical web magazines: Europea, the newspaper on the European Union, and Gastronomika, the newspaper on food culture.

At the moment the following publishers and their respective titles are part of Newsonline:

The entry of de Linkiesta further strengthens the Newsonline project, created to give value to the work of quality online publishers, establishing a direct dialogue with each of them, with the aim of creating the most important news pole of digital advertising in the country.

The initiative consists in putting together the wealth of skills, resources and technologies of iOL Advertising, the first digital dealership in Italy in terms of number of unique users per day, enriched with a dedicated structure headed by Luca Paglicci, who is responsible for the advertising revenues of the network, the main source of revenue for each of its affiliates. Aggregated into a single advertising network, organized and supported by an ad hoc team, these realities with an already consolidated audience are able to represent a catchment area that can deal with the main national players, benefiting from direct relationships with customers and media centers.

"We welcome to the Newsonline network Linkiesta and its related publications - said Fabio Peloso, Chief Commercial Officer Italiaonline - Their entry into the pool is confirmation of the goodness of our intuition that quality full digital publishing realities require and deserve special and specialized attention that only Italiaonline is able to provide. The trust of new and important partners only makes us even more determined in our common growth goals, both towards advertising investors and in terms of audience".

"I immediately believed in Newsonline's project - said Christian Rocca, director of Linkiesta - and I'm happy now to be able to join Linkiesta, Europea e Gastronomika. The publishing world is in transformation and great opportunities are opening up for those who will have the courage to offer readers and customers quality content and innovative solutions".
